

Dear Room 6 families,

Happy new year! Hope you & your families had a wonderful holiday season!

In the month of January we will be learning about the lovely and lonely continent of Antarctica. The children will explore the interesting animals that live and thrive in this harsh environment like the whales, penguins, krill, walrus, etc. We will learn about why there are no trees on this continent and what makes it so special.

Children will also learn about snow, the snow flakes, and learn how they're formed in the sky. For arts & crafts, the children will be crafting a penguin, and they will also be incorporating snowflakes into their projects. In addition, the artist of the month will be the famous Russian painter Wassily Kandinsky. Children will continue to focus on their academics as always and for botany we will learn about the parts of a root and it's important function in keeping the trees alive. They will dissect a root and learn about how the root helps the tree transport food, water, and nutrients.

I look forward to a great 2022 with your beautiful children in Room 6!

Best Regards,

Ms. Enoka
